Mr Marsden

It has really felt like January this week with all the wet and windy weather! Well done to all those preparing for our school production of 'Narnia', I know you had a really productive day on Tuesday. I am really looking forward to seeing the show on 23rd and 24th February which are now the confirmed dates. To everyone else – look out for details of how to get your tickets which will be coming soon! Last week I asked for an improvement in the Dining Room and I'm pleased to say things were much better this week. Please continue to take individual responsibility for keeping our school tidy – this is everyone's job. Finally, it is another important week next week for Year 11 as it is Parents Evening on Wednesday. This event is about you so it is really important that you are there alongside your parents and carers for these important conversations with your teachers. I hope to see you all on the night!

Have a great weekend.
